Dirty Cows Bespoke Summer Cleaning

WE CLEAN YOURS, LIKE IT'S OURS

Dirty Cows show off their three most popular summertime gift cleaning packages and their fully managed, professional cleaning services.

Dirty Cows have been busy selecting the brightest blooms for their hand tied bouquets, designed by Simon Smith Flowers and the most coveted Summer living colognes from The White Company and Jo Malone to complement their very popular Summertime gift cleaning packages. All the Summer Gift Cleaning Packages include: a package specific gift certificate and gift card housed in the Dirty Cows trademark black and white cow-print gift box, lined with scented tissue paper and hand tied with ribbon. A personal cleaning consultation, a bespoke cleaning schedule, a specified number of hours of professional cleaning carried out by our professional cleaning teams, all quality cleaning products and equipment and we finish off each clean with a choice of our seasonal room colognes and leave behind a beautiful Hand tied Spring bouquet.

Why not treat yourself or a loved-one to a Dirty Cows....

The Holiday Clean.

This package is designed for busy people who love to come home from their holidays to a beautifully clean and tidy home. We hold cleaning consultations prior to your holiday and discuss everything from the precise security of your home, detailed instructions regarding pets and the very fine and specific details of your tailored clean. We finish every holiday clean with flowers and living colognes allowing the holiday feeling to last a little longer.

Spring Clean

8 hrs of professional cleaning that is tailor-made to meet your specific cleaning requirements, where attention to detail and high expectations are standard. So popular Dirty Cows have been taking bookings since last November.

The Honeymoon Clean

The ideal wedding gift for any couple. Beautifully presented in our trademark cow-print gift box that can be given on the wedding day or several weeks prior to it, allowing the recipients to book their cleaning consultation and receive their clean in the run up to their wedding, whilst they are at their busiest or whilst they are away on their honeymoon, coming home to a beautifully clean and tidy home.

Our Weekly and Fortnightly Cleaning services

We pride ourselves on providing a fully managed, bespoke cleaning service, tailored exactly to your specific requirements and unlike many other cleaning services we provide all information on our hourly rates and the cost of our bespoke gift cleaning packages on our website. Dirty Cows is NOT an agency that finds self-employed cleaners work, nor do we franchise out our cleaning services. We know that the only way to ensure the quality of each and every clean we provide is to fully employ precisely the right people, who are then extensively trained and contractually obliged to clean to our very high standards. We know that our cleaning service is only ever as good as the quality of the people we employ and their desire to do an excellent job each and every cleaning visit, so we ensure that all of our clients receive:

- A personal cleaning consultation, carried out by your Dirty Cows Manager, prior to your first clean, where you will be invited to be as fussy and particular as possible about how you would like your property cared for each visit. Evening appointments are available for your convenience.
- A detailed, bespoke cleaning schedule where all of your cleaning expectations are highlighted and documented with a copy provided to you and your cleaner.
- A fully vetted (Which includes an 'enhanced' police check), thoroughly trained, comprehensively insured, enthusiastic, reliable and professional Dirty Cows cleaner, who speaks and writes very good English.
- The same cleaner, on the same day and at the same time, each visit.
- On your cleaners first visit to your property, they will be met by their manager and shown through your regular cleaning routine, paying attention to all the fine details and your individual requests.
- Your own Quality Manager, who will carry out regular and random quality spot checks on your cleaner whilst they are at your property. You can request a spot check whenever you wish and for any reason, no matter how trivial it may seem.
- Detailed monthly invoices.
- Entry to our annual competition for the chance to win having your cleaning invoice paid for a whole year, see the 'Our offers' page for more info.

Our Cleaners

We train them to be professional, reliable, trustworthy and to have the utmost respect for your home or workplace. We're extremely particular about the people we employ to send into your homes and all of our cleaners are carefully selected for their flair and enthusiasm and are contractually obliged and consistently rewarded and respected for cleaning to a very high standard at each and every visit.

Chat to us about a plan for you and how our tailored, fully managed cleaning service can fit into your lifestyle, and how we clean yours like it's ours.

Devastated co-workers found a mother-of-two murdered in her flat.

Margaret Sheehy was discovered lying on her couch by colleagues who had forced their way into her flat in Springfield Road, Kingston, after she failed to turn up for work on Tuesday, June 12.

Initial reports from police at the scene suggested she may have died of head injuries, but a postmortem examination later revealed asphyxiation as the cause of death.

A murder investigation has been launched.

Retrial for murder charge

by DAVID LINDSELL

d.lindsell@london.newsquest.co.uk

A man accused of murdering the mother of his child in their Kingston home will face a retrial.

Muhammad Asad Niazi, 29, denies murdering his partner Charito "Che" Cruz, 37, in their bedsit on September 29 last year.

The prosecution had been due to close its case at the Old Bailey on Wednesday after five days of witnesses, but a retrial will now take place.

Abigail Pickering, Ms Cruz's sister-in-law, who has travelled to the Old Bailey from Buckinghamshire, said: "I'm devastated. The family is all waiting for answers.

"To go through it again with a retrial, I'm going to go through all the emotions."

Mrs Pickering said Ms Cruz's ashes were reunited with her parents in the Philippines in Happier times: Charito Cruz and Muhammad Asad Niazi and, inset, pictures at the funeral

April – six months after she died.

Generous friends and churchgoers raised nearly £3,000 to pay for the trip after being moved by her death.

Mrs Pickering said: "I took the urn straight to the birthplace of Charito in Parangue.

"We had a funeral there for two days and she was taken to her home place and another funeral and she was buried on May 2.

"It is a tradition. There was crying. [Her parents] said 'You left alive and came back as ashes'. It was a really hard thing."

She said Roberto, Ms Cruz's brother and his family from Australia also took part in the funerals.

They had not been able to visit the cremation service in Kingston, but watched on Skype over a mobile phone camera.

Mrs Pickering said: "It has been very hard not to see her. Normally on the burial we open the coffin and have a last kiss or goodbye or touch."

Mr Niazi and Ms Cruz's two-year-old daughter was being looked after.

She said: "She is fine and doing well."

The jury was discharged and a date for the trial set for December 3.

Festival's ready to take off

Councillor Mary Heathcote also joined IYAF directors and the public for the launch party on Monday at the Rose Theatre's cultural cafe.

Magistrate named in Queen's birthday list

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

A devoted magistrate who has championed countless community causes has been recognised in the Queen's Birthday Honours list.

Joan McConn was awarded a British Empire Medal (BEM) for her services to the community in Kingston that range from ushering voluntarily at the Rose Theatre to sitting on the conservation area advisory committee.

She said: "I was gobsmacked really, I never thought I would get it. I am really pleased, it's quite gratifying really to have some sort of recognition."

The 65-year-old helped set up environmental group Transition Town Kingston (TTK) and the Kingston Federation of Allotments and is lettings secretary for the Addison Gardens Allotment Association.

She is a keen committee member of the Spring Grove Residents' Association, chairwoman of the Kingston Tour Guides and has looked after St John's parish hall for 20 years, securing lottery funding for redevelopment.

Gobsmacked: Joan McConn in her role as a tour guide

The magistrate of 18 years is also a trustee for charity Learning English at Home.

Liverpool-born Mrs McConn said her mother, who always helped others, would frequently send her and her two sisters across the road with Sunday dinner for elderly neighbours.

She said: "I suppose that's where I get it from, I really do care about society.

"I think it's really important. People don't think about the small things which can be really important to people.

"But I feel strongly about community, that's the main thing."

Mrs McConn said she found out she was in line for the honour a month ago, but had to keep it a secret and rushed online in the early hours of Saturday, June 16, to see if she was successful.

She said: "I didn't really believe it. What's really nice is seeing the nice things that people said about me. You don't think to say them day to day."

The BEM, sometimes called the working class gong, was scrapped in 1993 by John Major in an effort to make the honours system classless.

But last year David Cameron announced it would be reinstated to mark the Queen's diamond jubilee and recognise people's dedication and hard work in their communities.

Do you know anyone that was honoured by the Queen? Call 020 8744 4264 or email cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk.

Policeman pioneered volunteer service

A policeman who set up a pioneering volunteer group to run a police station has retired after nearly 30 years of service to his community.

PC Brian Jackson, who was a New Malden beat officer for 29 years, set up one of the very first police volunteer groups in the Metropolitan Police Service.

PC Jackson carried out all the administrative duties that led to the introduction of the volunteer team dedicated to the reopening and manning of New Malden police station in July 2001.

In March this year the volunteer group donated nearly 700 hours of their time to police service in the borough.

PC Jackson, who was previously persuaded to delay his retirement and continue to head up the volunteer team alongside his other duties last year, has finally decided to call it a day.

Chief Inspector Bill Heasman said: "He has been an exemplary officer and Kingston's volunteer programme has continued to perform well thanks to the base established by PC Jackson."

PC Jackson's police career has been centred on Kingston although he has had short spells in both Wandsworth and Euston.

Original member of the volunteer group Tony Townsend said: "I would like to pay tribute on behalf of all the volunteers to the work and support of PC Jackson."

Letters from the heart

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

Heartfelt love letters penned by a mysterious doting husband to his pregnant wife in the post-war era have been discovered in a pub.

Landlord Terry Archer, 46, found the romantic mail in the coaching inn stables of the Queen's Head pub in Richmond Road, Kingston, after taking over the premises two months ago.

The father-of-five was clearing out the back of the Grade I listed coaching inn when he came across the stash of letters from the unknown man written in 1949 while he was on national service in Chester.

The letters were addressed to LJ Briggs in Beresford Road, Kingston, and opened with "Dearest heart", "Dearest angel" or "Dearest sweetheart" and were always signed off with dozens of kisses.

A letter dated May 16, 1949 reads: "I thank God that he brought us together for each other. Believe me my angel I have never been so happy as I have since I have been with you. You are perfect my darling... I am sure that you are going to be a perfect mother for our Pat too."

"I love you deeply and humbly and I only hope I will always be worthy of you darling."

Mr Archer said: "I don't know how they got here or how long they have been here, but it is amazing that something like this has lasted this long and is still here."

"We were just clearing out the back and found them. It doesn't look like the last couple of owners ever cleared it."

"I am curious to find out about the couple, I mean maybe she worked here or her husband drank here – this is a little bit of history that is never going to be repeated."

Mr Archer said he had not got around to reading all the letters – which total more than 100 little handwritten notes, but regulars at the pub are fascinated with the find and are continuously asking him to bring out the box for a special reading.

He said: "It would be such a shame not to find the rightful owner or family."

"I am old fashioned. If the man who wrote the letters is alive, would love to shake his hand and buy him a drink – I would even let him pour his own pint if he wanted to."

Dentistry in Focus with Dr Riten Patel (GDC-77930) – Missing something ?Dental implants may be your answer.

Who wouldn't want to look better, speak better, eat betterand smile more? Dental implants are now the treatment of choice for many people who need to replace missing teeth. Implants are considered to be a more conservative intervention than traditional bridges or fixed partial dentures. They don't require special care you simply brush and floss them like normal teeth to maintain oral hygiene, unlike bridges that make cleaning awkward.

What are dental implants how to they work?

Dental implants are titanium posts that are anchored into the jawbone (like the roots of your teeth, they act like natural teeth) preserving and strengthening the underlying bone. During the procedure a hole is precisely drilled into the jawbone to accommodate the new implant, which integrates and fuses with the surrounding tissue over a period of about 3-4 months. One the implant is securely in place a custom made porcelain crown is fitted to it. Nobody will ever know that it is an implant and you will even forget that it is there! With implants there is no need to drill and shape adjacent healthy teeth, and there are no plates to affect comfort and fit.

In a recent survey, patients who had their dentures replaced with implants rated them 9 out of 10 – second only to natural teeth, and far above the 2 out of 10 for their dentures. The Mulberry use only the highest quality dental implant most advanced techniques available today. To book a consultation with Dr Patel (GDC-77930) you can call The Mulberry on 01932 223479 or visit www.mulberrydental.com.

Parish priest's 60 milestone

A popular retired parish priest marked his own diamond jubilee by celebrating 60 years in holy orders eating with a cake with parishoners.

Churchgoers at St Joseph's Catholic Church in New Malden joked that the bunting around the area and the street celebrations for the Queen were in fact for Father Michael Gwinnell, 87.

About 200 former colleagues in the priesthood and members of his family, godchildren and nephews and nieces, gathered at the church in Montem Road on Saturday, June 9.

Father Gwinnell said: "When I grew up I did not want to be a priest. During the war I trained as an aircraft engineer."

But when a priest asked him if he had ever thought of joining the priesthood it began a chain of thought led him to his calling.

He said: "Before I joined I was often bored, but since the moment I set foot over the threshold I have not experienced a day of boredom."

Father Peter Edwards, from St Joseph's, said: "He is a lovely person, highly thought of and greatly sought out for spiritual direction."

Father Gwinnell retired at the age of 77, but has been playing a role in New Malden since moving to the area saying mass at St Joseph's Catholic Church through the week and helping out in other parishes.

He was ordained at St John's Seminary Womersley, near Guildford, on June 7, 1952, and had left his last parish at St Ann's Kingston Hill, 11 years ago.

Tributes paid to murdered woman as killer's still free

by TOM BARNES

tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

Colleagues of murdered Margaret Sheehy have paid tribute to their respected co-worker.

The Irish woman, known by friends as Margot, had two grown-up children, one of whom is thought to live abroad.

A spokeswoman from Kingston-based finance company Intelliflo, where she worked, said staff were shocked to have lost a valued colleague in such an "awful way".

She said: "Margot was a very well-liked and respected member of our company and will be sorely missed. Our thoughts are with her loved ones at this difficult time."

It is believed Ms Sheehy lived alone at the flat, which was guarded by a police cordon while forensic teams gathered evidence.

The converted Victorian flat, which stands in the shadow of St John the Evangelist Church just metres from Kingston University, remains bordered off.

A weapon was not thought to have been used in the attack, though this had not yet been confirmed, and there was no sign of forced entry, detectives at the scene said.

Detective Chief Inspector Nick Scola, of the specialist crimes and operations unit, appealed to witnesses and those who knew the woman to come forward.

A woman living in the same block, who asked not to be named, said she did not know Ms Sheehy, but was shocked and saddened that something "so terrible" could happen in Kingston.

She said: "It is really shocking to think it could happen just metres from where I live and sleep. I did not know her, as I have only been here a short time, but it is really sad for her and her family."

Anyone with information should call 020 8721 4005 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

There have been no arrests.

❑ Did you know Ms Sheehy? To leave a tribute contact Tom Barnes by emailing tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk or calling 020 8744 4273.

Camra backs pub fight

The Campaign for Real Ale (Camra) has joined the fight to save a pub described as a lifeline for the community.

The organisation is backing the battle to save Worcester Park Tavern as residents fear the landmark pub – in a prime site near Worcester Park station – could be knocked down and turned into flats, after being put up for sale in May. June Fraser, 57, who launched the campaign to save the pub, said Camra's support would be invaluable.

A spokesman for Spirit Pub Company said the Worcester Park Tavern would remain open for the short term and the company would update staff on developments.

Campaigners vow to fight superstore plan

by TOM BARNES

tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

A fresh fight is brewing after a supermarket giant submitted a revised plan for a new superstore.

Tesco bowed to public pressure and withdrew an application to develop on the old Toby Jug site in Tolworth in April 2010 – but submitted a revised plan this week.

Surbiton and Kingston MP Edward Davey was joined by campaigners and traders in vowing to fight the plans.

Mr Davey said: “Despite the reduction in size it is still a large supermarket. There are still not enough affordable family homes and above all this proposal still fails to understand the effect on traffic on the Tolworth roundabout.”

Tesco said it has consulted with Transport for London on the effect on traffic, nearly halved the proposed size of the store and promised more than 250 jobs.

It argued the development would strengthen Tolworth’s position as a shopping destination, improve connections across Tolworth roundabout and attract new retailers.

Traders were split over Tesco’s

Proposed site: The old Toby Jug site has been eyed by Tesco, angering campaigners, among them Edward Davey MP, inset plans for a new superstore.

Najid Al Hashim, who runs Rose Cafe and Bakery, said he expected trade to drop off by about 20 or 30 per cent if the bid was successful.

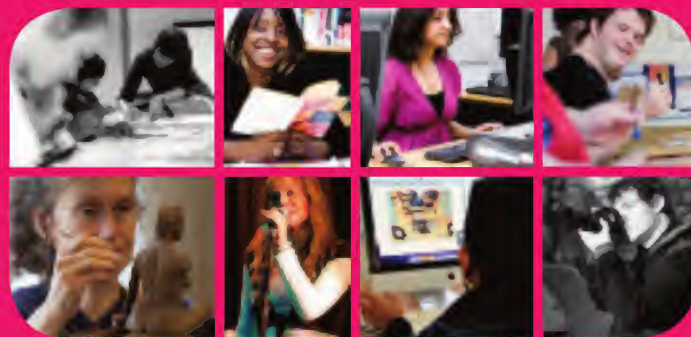

However, Golsa Ameri, from Scope charity shop, disagreed and said a new supermarket and gym would bring more customers to the area and increase sales.

Councillor Rolson Davies criticised Tesco for trying to whip up support for the site from residents outside Tolworth at the expense of people living nearby who would have a “Tesco town” on their doorstep.

Tony Fletcher, corporate affairs manager at Tesco, said: “Following the public consultation we undertook last autumn it was clear that, where people had concerns, they focused on traffic and highways.

He said: “We have put a lot of work into analysing the road network and have come up with proposals for a set of improvements – which we will pay for – so that the network can accommodate the additional usage and shorten average journey times.”

Crash victim is back after defying doctors

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

A fitness instructor who was told he would never exercise again after suffering partial paralysis from a motorbike smash has made a full recovery.

Luke Bulbeck broke his back, arm, eight ribs and suffered a collapsed lung and paralysis of his right arm after a car crashed into his motorbike in Stonecot Hill in November 2008.

The New Malden motorcyclist was told his injuries were so severe he would not be able to do any exercise again, ruining his livelihood and dream of joining the Army.

He said: "It was very difficult, it broke me. It was such a shock. I am used to working and being fit, that was my life, so for him to say that it was very difficult.

"I was depressed, I didn't go out. I was doing two bob jobs to make ends meet as I couldn't do my work as a fitness instructor."

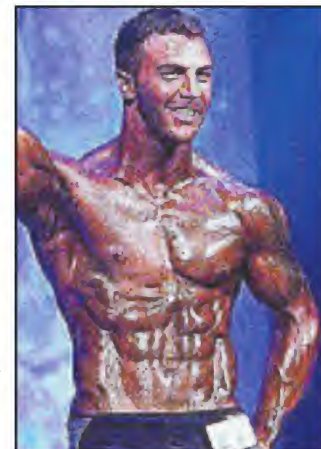

But the determined 26-year-old battled against the odds to train himself to get fit and has now made a miraculous recovery.

Last month, he finished runner-up in a professional competition for fitness models, where contestants are judged on poise, strength and body shape.

He said: "To be honest, I couldn't accept what the doctor said to me. I have pushed myself and got back into good physical shape.

"The comments I got back from the competition were unbelievable."

The success means Mr Bulbeck will travel to Canada to take part in an international championship, a move he described as "madness" considering the scars up his right arm that serve as a reminder of his experiences.

Mr Bulbeck said although he would have loved to have joined the Army, he is now content with his life and is hoping to inspire others in similar situations to his own.

He said: "I am pretty happy where I am now.

"I think my time for the forces has passed. Now I have accepted that and moved on.

"Now I try and inspire people, especially those with injuries."

Repair bill rise forces school to shut its pool

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

A swimming pool where generations learnt to swim could be lost as a community asset after a school could not meet the costly repair bill.

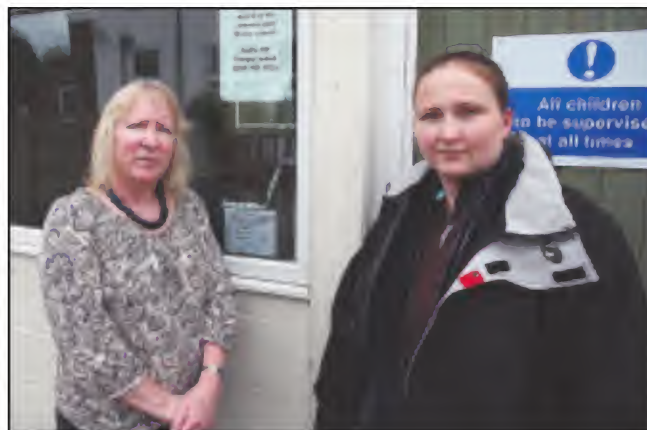

Councillor Rachel Reid was one of hundreds of children who learned to swim at Chessington's Moor Lane swimming pool aged six.

But that history could be under threat after Castle Hill Primary School, which now owns the pool, revealed it was struggling to keep it afloat.

Coun Reid said: "Moor Lane has got a history behind it and it serves the community. I learned how to swim there, my sister did too and my kids have had lessons there."

The pool, which is more than 30 years old and used to be part of the former Moor Lane Primary School, currently provides swimming lessons to children, mothers and babies and older members of the community.

A spokesman from Castle Hill Primary School, in Buckland Road, said: "In the light of detailed assessment the pool now requires very costly maintenance work over the next couple of years. This is beyond the scope of the school's budget.

Pool protest: Councillors Patricia Bamford and Rachel Reid

"Castle Hill Primary School will no longer be using the swimming pool at Moor Lane from the end of this academic year.

"As of September pupils will use the pool at the Hook Swim School next to St Paul's Primary School."

Councillor Patricia Bamford said: "We are keen to make sure the existing provision can continue or be improved and we will be looking at options to secure future funding if need be."

The future of the pool could be made part of a long-term plan laid out by residents, who want to improve sporting facilities in Chessington.

Councillors will meet to decide what action to take to secure the future of the Moor Lane pool.

YMCA to get £400k overhaul

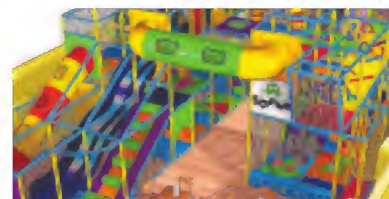

A YMCA centre is to undergo a £400,000 transformation this summer, writes Garrick Alder.

Work on the Hawker Centre, Kingston, is set to begin this July and last 18 months.

At the end of it, the Lower Ham Road facility will have a new purpose built studio, a soft play facility, an improved cafe and a bar and a fully refurbished gym.

The most striking part of the plan is to convert the building's main hall into a two-storey soft play area with slides, cannons, ball pits and rope bridges.

Needing a spruce-up for Games

When our overseas visitors attending the Olympics arrive at Gatwick, the most likely route they will take to London will be via junction 9 of the M25 leading on to the A243 through Malden Rushett.

Unlike a lot of other London boroughs, Malden Rushett has not been afforded the sprucing up treatment for the Olympics.

The A243 through the village and at the junction is potholed and resembles the craters on the moon, the crash barrier railings outside the house on the corner of the junction are bent and unsightly, the path from the A243 into Rushett Lane is practically impassable for pedestrians and the vegetation is overgrown and unsightly.

Malden Rushett is on the front line for all to see en route to London and we have seen no investment.

Since Transport for London (TfL) became responsible for the A243, our verges have been subject to a quick back and sides, while the rest has been left overgrown.

Burglaries ‘on the up’

I live in the Crofts area in Chessington and we are now almost into double figures for actual and attempted robberies in the area – not including other burglaries over the rest of Chessington.

We have been told by police they are doing everything they can, but sometimes they are seconded to cover the Olympics site.

Could you highlight the need for everyone to ensure their houses are secure when they go out and to remain vigilant, as we are clearly being watched by these burglars.

Call 999 if we see anything suspicious, even if it turns out to be innocent.

It is now getting beyond a joke and we are effectively having to lock ourselves into homes at night and our children are very frightened.

Collecting for charity

Recently three collectors stood in New Malden High Street and on behalf of Animal Aid and I would like to thank everyone who generously donated to this worthy cause.

Nearly £125 was raised for the charity that helped bring about the prosecution of slaughtermen beating pigs and stubbing out cigarettes on their skin.

Animal Aid also campaigns to improve safety for the horses at the Grand National, as well as carrying out important educational work on all aspects of animal cruelty.

Campaigns are always peaceful and aimed at preventing animal cruelty.

I would also like to thank Brenda Cochet and Catherine Spraggs who helped with the collection, as well as the kind, elderly gentleman who contributed on several occasions to all our collection tins.

On a wet Saturday, your encouragement was appreciated.

Animal Aid is based in Kent and carries out valuable work across many aspects of Animal Welfare. Please consider donating at animalaid.org.uk, or call 01732 364546.

Mouthpiece on planning issues

Many of you will have read last week’s article (Residents hope to take issues to the ballot box), which reports on the growing concern residents in Surbiton have about planning consultations.

The issues concerning the Surbiton Hospital site have been debated, a decision made and construction now well under way.

The Oakhill and District Residents’ Association

(Oadra) was formed as a body of opinion that would be recognised by the council in the consultation process.

Oadra has attracted a large membership and mailing list, has a constitution and holds public meetings. It has worked hard to represent the community’s views on many issues in addition to the hospital site, such as progress with the new Star and Garter home, road humps and parking. The next project is to sound out public opinion on the idea that Kingston has elected residents’ association (RA) councillors. Initial approaches to other RAs have received some enthusiasm.

Email oakhilldra.blog.spot.co.uk or oakhilldra@gmail.com for more.

Have faith in schools

I am at a loss to understand Kingston Council’s reluctance to embrace a faith school.

The council said it needs to provide 250 additional secondary places by 2015, as well as more primary places and private finance is no answer.

Why does the council continue to press ahead with no-hope schemes?

Educating the future

Esher College is "Outstanding" says Ofsted

Esher College is an extremely successful, open access, non-selective Sixth Form College situated in Thames Ditton, near Hampton Court, Surrey.

The College is one of the few in the country to achieve 'Outstanding' in all areas of their last two full Ofsted inspections and were awarded Beacon Status in 2005. As a heavily over-subscribed college, Esher College has a reputation for delivering exceptional results and they pride themselves on creating a friendly, vibrant and purposeful atmosphere for all students.

The A Level pass rate for summer 2011 was 99% and this included an impressive 54.8% at A*-B grade.

When students join Esher College they become part of a community of over 1600 full-time students from 100 different schools. An extensive range of AS and A Level courses is offered, including a good selection of those with a more vocational slant.

In addition to examined core courses, the College provides excellent opportunities for students to develop their wider interests. These include a number of sporting activities and team games, music, dance, languages and drama.

Esher College has a proven track record in enabling students from all types of backgrounds to reach their full potential. The College has an outstanding reputation for progression after students have finished their studies, with around 90% going on to Higher Education each year and a large proportion of these going on to top universities.

With excellent accommodation, including a drama studio, lecture theatre, sports hall with gym, a fully equipped Learning Resources Centre and a specialist Art block, it's clear to see why Ofsted praised their facilities.

All staff at the College are highly experienced in delivering post-16 education, both in their teaching subjects and in the support they provide through the tutorial system.

There are very good transport links to Esher College, with Thames Ditton train station only a 2 minute walk away and the A3 close by.

If you are a parent or current Year 10 student interested in applying for September 2013, please visit www.esher.ac.uk/admissions. Please note that Esher College is completely full for admissions in September 2012 and they also have a full reserve list.

Excellence in Sixth Form Education

Esher College has long been established as a centre of excellence for Art and Design. Students have a wide choice of subject options to choose from and there is no better place to see this than at the Annual Art and Design Exhibition, where both the range and quality of work is quite overwhelming. The skill and creativity of these young students and the maturity of their work cannot fail to impress. Work of this standard has been partly stimulated by gallery, exhibition and museum visits, both in London and other European cities. Students are also exposed to professional practice experience as part of their studies.

Students in the second year of the Applied Art & Design worked closely with the V&A Museum. They completed a live brief for which they devised and produced multimedia and interactive promotional material about specific galleries, designed to highlight and illuminate the character and context of particular artefacts. Designers from the museum acted as clients, giving an initial briefing and receiving presentations of the final products from the students. Tim Foxen, Head of Applied Art and Design, said "The V&A animation project opened up a whole range of experience for students as they had to work for a real client to a tight, industry standard brief, using professional software. They also had to work in groups and learned a tremendous amount about teamwork and presentation, in addition to the creative challenge of transforming a museum exhibit into a fascinating interactive web page. The success of the project enabled several students to apply successfully direct to BA degrees in Animation at top-flight universities."

In A Level Art (Fine Art) students' work has tackled questions of Encounter, Experience and Alliance. Karen Collingwood, Head of Art at Esher College, said "We are amazed by what our students have achieved. Experimentation and ambition is at the core of what we do and we encourage the students to challenge any preconceived notions of art and personal ability."

James Leonard, Head of 3D Design and Product Design, said "We are enormously proud of the work that students on both the Product and 3D Design courses have produced this year, and we are looking forward to displaying this at the Art and Design Exhibition in June." Design students have worked on projects with Mercedes Benz World, whilst first year students, having visited the Olympic site in Stratford to gain inspiration for their design concepts, have just completed a design project focused on Olympic structures, including bus stops, tourist information points and ticket outlets.

The college also offers students a range of extension courses, including graphic design, illustration and photography.

The Art and Design Exhibition will be open to the public from 10am to 4pm Wednesday 27th and Thursday 28th June 2012. On display will be a diverse range of art work from large scale painting and experimental drawing to paper cuts, sculpture, installation, fashion, 2 and 3D design.

Happy couple: Robert Searle and his wife Joyce and, inset, on their wedding day

Death of a gentleman

by JULIA KENNARD

jkennard@london.newsquest.co.uk

A Korean War veteran known as a true gentleman has died.

Robert Searle, 81, died peacefully at Kingston Hospital after an eight-year battle with vascular dementia.

Mr Searle, who was born and bred in Kingston, joined the Army as a young man and left behind his young fiancée when he set sail from Southampton to South Korea in 1951.

While on duty he was involved in the infamous Taking of Hill 282.

After two years of national service, Mr Searle returned from war, choosing to discontinue any training and pursue marital bliss.

He married his wife Joyce, now 81, at a ceremony at Saint Peter's Church, in London Road, Kingston, sparking a marriage that would span 60 years.

The couple, who met at the Clarion Club, now known as the Searchlight Youth Centre in Kingston, later embarked on a hobby that led them to become ranked eighth in the country for ballroom dancing.

His daughter Rita Wright said: "He was a true gentleman, a perfectionist and someone who always got things done. He was just such a popular man – always the strong one."

"He was the pillar of strength in the family. Everyone is devastated. He was a very special man."

Some years after the war he was asked to give an account of his experiences for the Imperial War Museum's audio collection.

Mr Searle, who had three grandchildren and a great-grandchild, regularly visited a Korean hairdresser in New Malden for many years after returning from the war.

As a loving father he taught his daughter to swim to an Olympic standard and later coached boys at the Clarion Football Club, some of whom went on to join clubs such as Queens Park Rangers and Brighton.

Happy days: Robert Searle with his daughter

Thames Water customers saving 100 million litres of water every day

Come rain or shine, water is precious

In the recent hot weather, people living in London and the Thames Valley are using 100 million litres less water per day – a four per cent reduction in overall water use across the region for the time of year.

This is a result of people not using their hosepipes to water lawns, fill pools and clean cars, as well as taking extra steps to use less water in the home.

Richard Aylard, Thames Water's Sustainability Director, said: "Our customers are making a real difference and of course we are very grateful. It's when it's sunny that we can really see the impact of the hosepipe ban and overall careful use of water, as this is when we would normally expect to see water use at its peak. The saving of 100 million litres a day is really important, as is the 60 million litres a day that we are saving by getting leakage to its lowest level ever. 160 million litres of water every day is a very significant saving on the amount of water we need to take from the environment every day. It is making a real difference in ensuring we have enough water to see us through the summer and autumn."

Although the hosepipe ban, which came into effect at the start of April remains in force for much of the South East following the driest two years ever recorded, Britain's topsy-turvy weather has helped ease the water shortage.

Within 24 hours of the restrictions coming into force in April, the heavens opened and stayed open for six weeks, delivering 262% of average rainfall in the Thames region, followed up by frequent showers in May.

Mr Aylard added: "After such a long dry period the record spring rain has really helped, improving the situation on the surface of the ground, including boosting river levels in the short term.

"However, the levels in many of the natural underground reservoirs, which provide the majority of water in rivers and keep them flowing during dry summer months, are still very low and are unlikely to recover until there is sustained winter rainfall.

"Taking everything into account, we need more time to be sure that we will have enough water to get us through the summer and autumn. But we will lift the ban just as soon as it is responsible to do so and will update our customers towards the end of June.

"In the meantime we encourage everyone to continue to save water where they can – it does make a real difference."

Securing supplies

River levels are normal for the time of year and reservoirs remain full. However, water levels below ground are unlikely to recover until next winter – and only if enough rain falls. Winter is the most important time for replenishing supplies as the ground stays

TOP WATER-SAVING TIPS

- 1 Turn off the tap when you brush your teeth and save 6 litres a minute
- 2 Thames Water customers can order free water-saving devices at: www.thameswater.co.uk/waterwisely
- 3 Try and finish your shower in under 4 minutes
- 4 Keep a jug of water in the fridge to avoid waiting for the tap to run cold
- 5 Have a water meter fitted so you can see how much you're using
- 6 Don't worry if the lawn turns brown – it will recover when it rains again
- 7 Install a water butt in your garden
- 8 Only run the dishwasher and washing machine on a full load – this uses less water than two half-loads
- 9 Fix leaking toilets – on average a leaky loo wastes 2,800 litres a week

wet. In the summer, once the ground has dried out, water can't seep through and much of it evaporates or gets used by plants.

Thames Water continues to boost supplies. Jerry White, Thames Water's head of water production, said: "Of course it's not just our customers who need to help reduce water use, we know there is still a lot of work for us to do to reduce leakage to an acceptable level. This is our number one priority – since it's peak in 2004, we've cut leaks by more than 300 million litres a day to its lowest ever level. We're doing this work as quickly as we can while minimising disruption and costs for customers.

"We've also built back-up systems, including our new desalination plant in east London, and a large groundwater reserve in north London. Each can provide enough additional water to supply the daily needs of around one million people per day."

JUNE SAMPSON cannot contain her excitement for an annual horticultural miracle

Rosy view from Hampton Court Palace

As I write, more than 2,000 people, all experts in their particular fields, are converging on the royal acres of Home Park at Hampton Court Palace. Less than three weeks hence, after toiling around the clock, they will have created that miraculous miniature city known as the Hampton Court Palace Flower Show.

It was launched by resident Adrian Boyd in 1990, the Royal Horticultural Society (RHS) took it over in 1993, and since then it has blossomed into the biggest annual event of its kind in the world, each one more memorable than the last.

I've been to them all, and still I thrill with anticipation as it draws near. This year it will run from July 3 to 8, and I cannot wait to get there. For, as well as the exquisite sight and scent of more than 2m blooms, it will be like stepping on to a magic carpet that will waft us over the globe to Russia, Jordan, Switzerland and the Azores.

Thanks to a new show category, World of Gardens, priceless works of art from the Russian Museum in St Petersburg will be replicated in a garden designed as a miniature representation of the imperial city. Meanwhile Switzerland Tourism will feature a Swiss alpine garden, with streams, mountain peaks, meadows and other characteristics of an alpine landscape. Jordan will mark the 200th anniversary of the rediscovery of Petra – the city carved out of a red sandstone valley 2,000 years ago – with a Discover Jordan garden displaying several of the 2,500 plant species native to that country.

The Azorean Garden will use rocks, waterfalls, tropical plants and black basalt to evoke the character of the nine relatively unknown islands that make up the Azores archipelago. The secret of the show's ever burgeoning success

The Richard Porson: A fragrant shrub rose, by Peter Beales Roses

You're Beautiful: Bred by Gareth Fryer, it has been chosen as Rose of the Year 2013 and gained a gold standard award in recent trials. It will be available from garden centres from autumn 2012

(originally it only comprised 11 acres, now it's 34) is the skill of the RHS in gauging the public mood of the moment. For example, in the boom years of the 1990s, visitors wanted brilliant theatricality, so we got giant waterfalls, volcanoes and stupendously lavish landscaping.

Then came nostalgia for the rural England of yesteryear, so we were given old-world cottage gardens and idyllic pastoral scenes. Now the mood is more practical. Visitors still want to lose themselves in beauty but, because of the recession, global warming, lack of space etc, there is unprecedented concern for the environment, and keen interest in growing one's own produce, making the horticultural most of small plots, and creating low cost gardens.

Thus, it is no wonder the show's main sponsor this year is Ecover, whose household products and packaging are made with health and ecology much in mind.

Or that one of this year's new categories is for "low cost, high impact gardens", showing what can be achieved with a limited space and budget.

The past couple of years have seen a new zeal to engage children, and the RHS now gives free entry to accompanied children under 16.

Hence The Applebee native Apple Orchard, designed by Matthew Byway of Walton.

It includes an English apple orchard, underplanted with wild flowers and will, he says, "give children an opportunity to reconnect with the soil and develop a deeper understanding of where food comes from and how it grows".

The Grow Your Own marquee will be there again, showing all aspects of growing fruit, veg and herbs.

Visitors will be able to view the displays, buy the produce, and chat to the growers themselves before going to see some of the products being used in the great tastes and artisan food marquee.

I am particularly looking forward to the Plants4Presents display of "how to grow your own curry", using their nursery-grown ginger, chilli, turmeric, lemongrass and other exotica.

Another guaranteed heart-stopper will be the rose and floristry marquee. Its theme will be "romance and roses", and 11 new roses, some of which are shown on this page, will make their debut there.

This is but a tiny taste of the feast. There is not enough space to describe the host of other features, including no fewer than 34 gardens.

To revel in those we must go there, and the most luxurious way to do that is at the gala preview evening on July 2, when visitors can listen to live music, tour the show in uncrowded comfort, and enjoy a picnic (you can pre-book a super one on 0845 3700128) or dine in one of the restaurants, before the evening ends with a magnificent fireworks display against the backdrop of Hampton Court Palace.

Tickets cost £53 for RHS members, £58 for non-members, and numbers are strictly limited.

Tickets prices for the rest of the week range from £14.50 to £32.50, and each full-paying adult may bring two children aged under 16 free of charge.

Note that RHS members are entitled to buy four tickets at members rate, but they must be booked in advance to qualify for discounts.

The first two days of the show (July 3 and 4) are reserved for members and their guests.

The next four are open to the public, and tickets will be £29 for all day (10am to 7.30pm) and £18.50 for half a day (3pm to 7.30pm).

For more information call 020 7649 1883 or visit rhs.org.uk.

Summer Sweetheart: By Harkness Roses, it is a repeat-flowering climber with semi-double flowers. It thrives in full sun or part shade

Bobby Dazzler: By Style Roses, it is a continuous flowering floribunda ideal for borders or containers

Red Ribbon: Introduced by Bill Le Grice Roses, it marks the 30th anniversary of the Terrence Higgins Trust, the UK's leading sexual health charity

Win free entry to show

JAZZ legend

One of the best modern jazz musicians will perform his unconventional sound at the Rose as the theatre expands its repertoire further into live music.

Courtney Pine will perform on the main stage on Saturday, June 23, drawing on Gregorian Chants, Scandinavian, Celtic, Spanish, Hungarian and Mediterranean music.

He is known mainly for his saxophone playing, but also plays the flute, clarinet and keyboards.

His debut album Journey to the Urge Within 25 years ago achieved the rare feat for a jazz record of hitting the UK Top 40 and earning a silver disc.

Rose chief executive

Robert O'Dowd hinted at landing a big name music star shortly after he took over in February.

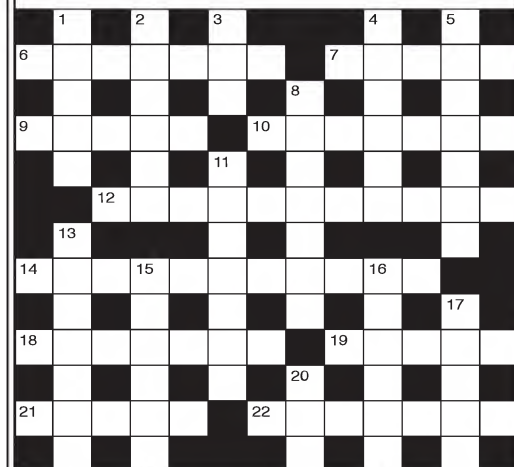

He said: "He knows the Rose and when I spoke to his management they were very keen for him to come. I don't know how he knows it. I will ask him when he comes."

"I think he epitomises contemporary jazz and is one of the best contemporary British jazz musicians of his generation."

"That sort of sound would suit the Rose very well."

□ Courtney Pine, Rose Theatre Kingston; Saturday, June 23; tickets £15-£20; visit rosetheatre.kingston.org or call 08444 821556.

Nick Knowles and Kirsty Allsop are dream team

A new survey shows that Nick Knowles and Kirsty Allsop are seen as the ideal celebrity landlords.

Just over 12 per cent of women surveyed voted for property and design guru Kirsty Allsop citing her friendliness and good business sense as her top equal traits, while one in 10 male respondents preferred TV presenter Nick Knowles for his DIY skills.

David Cameron and Jeremy Clarkson were voted least favourite celebrity landlords. Business-guru Lord Alan Sugar ranked third after Nick and Kirsty as a dream celebrity landlord.

The survey of over 1,500 tenants was carried out by the National Landlords Association (NLA).

The survey also found that tenants rate flexibility (26.7 per cent) and friendliness (24.1 per cent) as the top personality traits and skills a landlord should have. The research, to mark the launch of the NLA Property Women Awards 2012, found that 80 per cent of tenants were satisfied with their current landlord.

NLA director, business mentor and NLA Property Women Awards judge, Carolyn Uphill, said: "Although landlords traditionally tend to get a bit of a bad press, in reality it seems that the majority of tenants are happy."

"Being a landlord is a challenge, but with a satisfaction rating of nearly 80 per cent from tenants, it's useful to have a strong benchmark which shows that most landlords are providing the good levels of service that tenants expect."

The NLA Property Women Awards 2012 is currently open for entries. The awards recognise women who are making their mark on the private-rented sector.

Eleven UK regional awards

Dream celebrity landlords: Nick Knowles, Kirsty Allsop, Alan Titchmarsh and Dame Judi Dench

from across the UK are given, along with six principal awards which celebrate inspirational women from other areas of the private-rented sector, including the NLA Green Property Woman, NLA Young Property Woman Award, NLA Letting Agent Property Woman Award, NLA

Local Authority Property Woman Award, and new for 2012, the NLA Third Sector Property Woman Award, for those operating within the third sector, such as charities or housing associations, who provide exceptional support to the private-rented sector.

The NLA Property Woman of the Year 2012 – the overall winner – will be selected from the regional and principal categories.

Entries close on June 25. The awards take place on October 31. Nomination forms can be found at property-womenawards.org.uk.

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

1. The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.

3. The advertiser further confirms that:

- i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
- ii) all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
- iii) in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.

5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.

6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.

9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.

13. We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.

14. The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.

15. We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Kingston's Buter lands bronze

Kingston's Michelangelo Buter, pictured right, fell short of a Surrey athletics double at the Surrey County Schools Championships on Saturday. The 13-year-old Windsor, Slough, Eton and Hounslow athlete, who won the 4kg U15 shot event at last month's county championships, finished third at Kingsmeadow with a throw of 12.96 metres – a new personal best.

Kingston & Polytechnic Harriers' county U17 women's hammer champion Alexandra Bartle added the schools' crown to her collection.

Malden slide to heavy loss

Skipper Simon Crampton saw his Malden Wanderers men thrashed by defending Surrey Championship Premier Division title-holders Wimbledon on Saturday, writes Stuart Amos.

Only opening bowler Neil Mander emerged with any real credit as he claimed figures of 5-37 to help dismiss the visitors for 166, to put Wanderers on top at the half way stage.

Crampton's men, who go to Camberley this week, lost opener Matthew Birrell to a five-ball duck early on, but they reached 26-1, before losing their last nine wickets for just 23 runs, with Neil Turk (5-10) doing the damage.

Worcester Park kept up the pressure on Division Two leaders Leatherhead as they beat Ashford by five wickets.

Three wickets each for Gary Marshall, Rob Bell and Waqas Sagar dismissed the visitors for 111, before Park skipper Rob Waite (56) struck his second half century of the summer to lead his side – who go to Trinity Mid-Whitgiftian this week – to the win.

In Division Five, third-placed Kingstonian beat Sinjungrammarians by four wickets on Saturday and go to Oxted & Limpsfield this week.

BTCC promise

Worcester Park's Howard Fuller has revealed his stint with British Touring Car Championship driver Tony Gilham's outfit Team HARD could see him in the BTCC next year.

The 19-year-old finished sixth and first in two rounds of the Volkswagen Racing Cup at Rockingham last weekend and is now after an option to step up a level.

"They are keen to get me in the car for testing and the budget I'll need to raise for next year is good compared to other teams," said Fuller.

Fuller races in Spa in the Volkswagen Cup next month.

Jess flies in under the radar

Some people's first attempt at the London Marathon might be their last, but Jess Draskau-Petersson's has taken her all the way to the 2012 Olympics.

The Stragglers Running Club athlete, a former Great Britain duathlete, was confirmed in Denmark's squad for the Games last month, having only taken up the sport last June after a four-year break with a knee injury.

Draskau-Petersson, a regular at the Richmond and Bushy Park Parkruns with 18 women's race wins, bettered the Olympic A qualifying standard in clocking two hours, 34 minutes and 56 seconds at the London Marathon in April – her first effort at the distance.

The 34-year-old, who was born in Denmark but has lived in Britain since the age of 13, only quit her job as a full time human resources manager earlier this year to focus on training full time.

And Draskau-Petersson, who has lived in and around Kingston for the past four years, believed her late rise to prominence could work in her favour.

"My father was diagnosed with Alzheimer's in June last year and I decided I wanted to turn that news into something positive," she said from her training base in Teddington.

"I thought I'd do a marathon and I thought why not give getting to the Olympics a try. I'd hoped my father would be able to be there in person, but that is not possible now.

"I sent an email to the Danish Athletic Association to tell them what I wanted to do and to find out how I went about it. They must have thought I was mad. "I was never really on the radar until then and even then they really didn't pay that much attention to me.

"It wasn't until I did a Bath half marathon in March in 73 minutes that they started to take notice.

"That is when I started to think it was possible and now I hope to carry on to make the Rio Olympics in 2016.

"I've always wanted to compete for Denmark, it is where I grew up and now I will do it in Britain where I live.

"I think it will help I have come from nowhere, because no one has heard of me."

Draskau-Petersson, who first moved to the Isle of Man in the early 90s, is a four-time world elite long-distance duathlon silver medallist for Great Britain, but was forced out of action after an accident on her bike in 2007.

Her return to competitive running has included finishing third in the Cabbage Patch 10km race in Twickenham last October and clocking 1.30:47 at the Kingston Breakfast Run in April.

She has since teamed up with Isleworth-based coach Noel Stoddart and his Harambee Running Club and is now running 100-miles-a-week to prepare for London.

"After coming back, before I knew it I went from training twice a week, to three times and so on. I had to give up my job," she added.

"Noel's group is full of young talented runners and I'm the old lady of the team.

"It has been tough and I don't know how I'm going to manage until the Olympics. It is hard work, but I love it."

SPORTSbrief

ROWING: Surbiton rowing star Moe Sbihi collected bronze as Team GB's men's eight crew finished third at the final World Cup regatta of the summer in Munich on Sunday. The 24-year-old and the team have a six week training camp between now and the 2012 Games, where they hope to pip men's eight title favourites Germany.

SWIMMING: Kingston Royals veteran Penny Webster claimed silver and bronze medals at the Fina World Masters Championships in Italy earlier this month. Webster, who runs the Kingston Royals cadet scheme and swims in the 70-74-years-old age group, came second in the 800m freestyle and the 3km open water event. She also picked up a bronze in the 400m freestyle and came fifth in the 200m freestyle.

TENNIS: New Malden's Mel South lost in the opening round of the Wimbledon Championships ladies' singles qualifying tournament at Roehampton on Tuesday. South, who has a wildcard entry for the main ladies' doubles draw at SW19 next week, lost 6-3 6-2 to number 11 seed Lara Arruabarrena-Vecin of Spain.

NETBALL: Former Tiffin Girls' School student Hannah Reid made up for her Netball Super League title disappointment by collecting Surrey Storm's players' player of the year award at the franchise's end of season awards earlier this month. Storm lost 57-55 to Northern Thunder in last month's Super League final.

MOTORSPORT: New Malden's Tom Onslow-Cole heads to Croft this weekend hoping a rare podium finish at Oulton Park is no flash in the pan. The 25-year-old came third in the final race of his last British Touring Car Championship outing and is seventh in the drivers' championship.

FOOTBALL: Corinthian Casuals boss Kim Harris will begin the process of unearthing the next King George's Field star next week, when he hosts open senior trials at the club's Tolworth home on Tuesday. The existing squad return to pre-season training on June 28.
